

PATTY

WOUTERS

"Ancient pots are important because of their historical value. From excavated pots and vessels archeologists could make up lots of detail out of every day life and religious rituals of the ancient cultures. All these ancient vessels are based upon archetype forms and radiate a universal spirit. It is this kind of spirit I want to express in my work. My pots carry signs and symbols and tell stories about existence, relationships and communication, about origin and evolution."

*Bowl
porcelain, 8"D*